

GALA RELEASE OF A BOOK PUBLISHED BY INDIAN SCIENCE NEWS ASSOCIATION

Emerging Science and Culture: Connecting People

Edited by S.C. Roy

(Platinum Jubilee Commemorative Volume of ISNA)

About the book

The last twenty-five years have witnessed an unprecedented progress in science and technology, an evolution in attitude and culture, and a transformation in economy and politics in India. Advancements in science and technology, especially in nuclear energy, information technology, space research, genetics and biotechnology, have offered great breakthroughs that have resulted in social and cultural changes. This book is a modest attempt to celebrate what we have accomplished as a nation in recent times, and how we envisage India in future. The articles presented pay tribute to some of these developments, as well as the impact they have had in ushering in a culture that allows people to feel more connected. The diversity of the author pool reflects the variety of disciplines discussed—scientists, teachers, bureaucrats, litterateurs and philosophers offer their views, instructive and provocative, in their respective fields of expertise to encourage critical thinking. The book will be useful to students, scientists, sociologists, as well as casual readers with varied interests.
